CENTRAL OFFICE.

Circular Memorandum No. 4, dated 8*th November* 1923.

The attention of the Heads of Departments, Deputy Commissioners and the Executive Engineers of Divisions is invited to Circular No. 8, dated the 20th January 1921, in regard to the design and execution of building works required by other Departments. Instances have come to the notice of Government in which officers for whom the buildings are constructed have often suggested alterations and additions during execution though they have countersigned plans and estimates previous to sanction. In many cases works are stopped on this account resulting in delays and excesses over estimates.

The Heads of Departments and other officers of Government for whom buildings are constructed are requested to scrutinise plans and estimates at the very outset to see if all their requirements have been fully provided for before they countersign such estimates so that no deviations are suggested at a future date. The Executive Engineers are informed that once an estimate is sanctioned and plans duly approved, they should strictly adhere to them and not add to sanctioned works without express sanction of Government. If the buildings are completed satisfactorily as per sanctioned plans, the officers of other Departments are required to take them over without delay.

Circular No. 3, dated 8*th November* 1923.

To

The Executive Engineers of Divisions.

CIRCULAR MEMORANDUM.

It has come to the notice of Government that many of the projects and repair estimates which are now submitted by Executive Engineers are not prepared with care and forethought and works are not carried out methodically and expeditiously.

2. The preparation and submission of estimates, execution of works, preparation of bills and payments to contractors are not in accordance with Circular Orders; resulting in heavy excesses over estimates, and delay in completion of works. There have been many instances of excesses out of all proportion to the original estimate and of inordinate delays in the closing of accounts of completed works.
